

The "OneSpare" Advantage

If you provide experiences that are sold at charity auctions...

- Can you easily view a list of all the events that are promoting you and selling experiences?
- Does your logo along with up to 10 photos appear on everyone's smart phone at the gala?
- Are you connected directly with the winning bidder (new customer) to control the experience?
- Do you have full control of the promotional materials used by the fundraising events?
- If a certificate was sold and not redeemed (breakage), would you know about it?
- Are you paid immediately after the auction when the certificate is issued?
- Is your business building its "brand halo" at the events that you support?

If you answered "NO" to any above, it's time to discover
